

Grounds for Play: Sculptures that Excite the Imagination

June 23 – October 21, 2018

Opening Reception: Sunday, July 15th, 2018, 2:00 – 5:00 pm

Sculptors use their imagination to transform ideas and dreams into three-dimensional realities through blocks of stone, lumps of clay, glass, scrap metal, and even found objects. In Grounds for Play: Sculptures that Excite the Imagination, members of the New England Sculptors Association showcase their whimsical, thoughtful, complex, and astonishing works in the woods and walking areas of Fuller Craft Museum's 22-acre surroundings. See <https://www.nesculptors.org/> for more information about the organization.

Michael Alfano, Cubed, 48" x 48" x 48", Pigmented Resin. Photo Credit: Linda Chuss